

Abstract of the Disclosure

A system and method for printing scale control utilizing, for control purposes, a validated image-source-file data flag which contains information describing the actual original image size in terms of dots-per-inch and total number of bits.